

This book presents the work of a committee of experts convened by Inserm in the scope of a collective expertise procedure to answer questions posed by Servier laboratories regarding the influence of hormone replacement therapy on cardiovascular risk.

It is based on scientific data dating from the first semester of the year 2000. Approximately 1,000 publications constitute the bibliography for this expertise.

This Inserm work was supported by an unconditional and non-restrictive grant from Servier laboratories, France.
